

ABOUT US

In response to the burgeoning real estate opportunities that arose following the economic recession in Greece, and with all the experience we had gained over years of activity in other European countries, we established iLand in Athens in 2014. Today, iLand is primarily dedicated to real estate development and construction in this beautiful country.

In these past few years, we have undertaken several high-end projects that are catered to both local and international clients.

What sets iLand apart from other companies is our unwavering commitment to establishing long-term and friendly relationships with our customers.

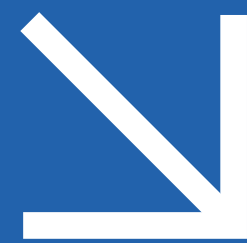

We take pride in offering unique and distinguished after-sales services that ensure our clients can «land» in Greece with ease.
